

February is Pet Dental Health Month at Davis Drive Animal Clinic

One thing's for certain - at Davis Drive Animal Clinic we are passionate about your pet's oral health!

Periodontal Disease in pets (foul breath, dental tartar, swollen or bleeding gums and gum recession) is a common source of pain and infection that most often remains silent and can lead to significant health concerns if left untreated. The best way to prevent the progression of periodontal disease in your pet is by scheduling regular dental treatments along with routine dental home care (more about this below!).

PET DENTAL HEALTH MONTH DISCOUNT!

During the month of February, we are offering a 10% discount on Dental Treatments. If you have received a Dental Treatment recommendation for your pet within the past 12 months but have not yet scheduled it in, or, if you would like to know if your pet would benefit from a Dental Treatment then just follow these steps to take advantage of our Pet Dental Health Month Discount:

1. Book your pet in for a complimentary dental examination now until the end of February to discuss an individualized dental treatment plan for your pet (this can be coordinated with your pet's Annual Health Exam if they are due in February)
2. Schedule your pet in for the recommended treatment within 30 days of their dental examination and receive a 10% discount on the Dental Treatment Plan*

WHY DOES MY PET HAVE STINKY BREATH?

Did you know that at least 70% of pets develop dental disease by the age of 2 years? Here are the most common sources of dental disease in pets:

AGE - Dental disease is more common in older pets

BREED - Small dogs, especially those with a flat face or short nose, are more likely to have overcrowded or misaligned teeth that are difficult to keep clean and more prone to dental issues

CATS are at high risk for tooth resorption which leads to open cavities known as 'resorptive lesions' and tooth root infections, ouch! Click here for more about dental disease in cats

HOW TO CARE FOR YOUR PET'S DENTAL HEALTH

Your pets are part of the family. Take care of them by making dental home care a priority

- Schedule regular dental checkups and cleanings as recommended by your vet
- Regularly brush your pet's teeth - this is the single most effective way to keep their teeth health between cleanings
- Use dental treats, sprays/rinses, dental food and chews that are certified by the Veterinary Oral Health Council (VOHC)
